

Myeloma Support Nurse - QLD

Myeloma Support Nurse - Myeloma Australia (Myeloma Foundation of Australia Inc)

Join our growing team working as part of our National Myeloma Support Nurse network:

- Providing support and education to myeloma patients and their carers in the community
- Contributing to educational events, publications and myeloma related advocacy issues
- Based in Brisbane
- Permanent part time – 3 days per fortnight

About Us

Myeloma Australia is the only Australian myeloma specific not-for-profit organisation providing information, education and support to those affected by myeloma and their carers, participate in advocacy projects on their behalf and contribute to research through our Medical & Scientific Advisory Group (MSAG).

We are looking to engage a highly motivated nurse to work with the current Myeloma Support Nurses as we grow our services and team in Queensland.

About the role

Reporting to Myeloma Australia Head Office, you will work collaboratively with a small enthusiastic team. Specific responsibilities include:

- Set up and coordinate our QLD Information & Support Group Program
- Offer guidance on our telephone support line (1800 MYELOMA)
- Facilitate educational events for patients and carers in regional and metropolitan centres
- Deliver myeloma related education to health professionals
- Contribute to the formation and updating of educational resources

About the position

- Three days per fortnight (flexible days)
- Work with experienced Myeloma Support Nurses locally and interstate
- Competitive salary & benefits
- Ideal position to complement a part time clinical position

Your experience and skills

- A registered nurse with at least five years' experience in clinical oncology/haematology
- Have a comprehensive understanding of cancer with special emphasis on multiple myeloma
- Have highly developed interpersonal & communication skills and empathetic nature
- Ability to work autonomously and in a small team
- Computer skills in Microsoft Office based programmes
- Access to your own vehicle (travel costs reimbursed)
